

FRIDAY - 16

FINVARRA'S WREN

MUSIC

The youngest member of the local group is barely old enough to drive a car, but don't for a second think this comer doesn't have some seriously cultivated chops. In fact, the entire band has got it going on. Finvarra's Wren is a multigenerational musical outfit that plays traditional Celtic music so heartachingly well that even Finn MacCool would be impressed. They're known for their popular winter solstice concerts, but they'll brave the summer sizzle this weekend for a rare show at the Ark in Ann Arbor.

8:00 pm at 316 S. Main St., Ann Arbor; 734- 763-8587

Tickets are $13.50
